Anna Sanders is proud to teach visual art at La Habra High School, including beginning and intermediate Drawing & Painting and 3D Design, as well as AP Art & Design. She began her teaching career in the district at Sunny Hills in 2010 and moved to La Habra High in 2014. She earned her Bachelor of Arts Degree, with a concentration in Drawing and Painting, from the University of California, Santa Cruz in 2003. After graduating, she lived in New York City for four years, before returning to California to get a teaching credential from Cal State Fullerton in 2009.

As an art teacher, one of her favorite things is watching students learn and practice new skills, develop new and innovative ways to solve problems, and surprise themselves with how much they can do. She has a love of art history and makes a point of infusing her art classes with lessons that draw connections between the artistic creations of various cultures to our present day. When not teaching, she enjoys the outdoors, and traveling to see the great art and architecture of the world in person.
